About Anthem Sports & Entertainment

At its core, Anthem Sports & Entertainment is about connecting fans to the content they care about most. Through a diversified portfolio of sports and entertainment networks, Anthem delivers live events, original programming, and curated premium content across every major distribution platform. Our strength lies not just in reach, but in our ability to create, own, and distribute content that drives sustained engagement. Our diverse portfolio of television channels and digital platforms, including GameTV, Hollywood Suite, TNA Wrestling, and AXS TV. We deliver premium content in sports, entertainment, movies, music, and more across North America.

The Opportunity

We are looking for a Senior Corporate Accountant who is more than just strong technically—you will be a trusted partner to our CFO and finance team. This is a hands-on role that blends day-to-day accounting oversight with opportunities to influence financial strategy in a rapidly changing industry.

As the media industry continues to evolve, we're seeking professionals who bring proven experience, perspective, and the ability to adapt—individuals who understand both the challenges and opportunities of today's broadcasting and distribution landscape.

If you've worked in television, media, or advertising sales and want to apply your expertise in a role where your voice matters, this may be the right next step. This position is ideal for someone established in their career who is looking for stability and the chance to contribute meaningfully within a collaborative environment.

Key Responsibilities

- Oversee full-cycle accounting including accounts payable, receivable, general ledger, reconciliations, and month-end close.
- Manage daily cash balances, FX exposure, and internal transfers; proactively forecast payments and funding needs.
- Lead month- and year-end close processes, ensuring accuracy and compliance with regulatory deadlines (EHT, HST, corporate tax filings).
- Track, review, and reconcile expenses against approved budgets, quotes, and engagement letters.
- Prepare financial statements, management reports, and support audit processes.

- Collaborate on annual budgeting, forecasting, and financial planning.
- Support Canadian and US tax and regulatory filings.
- Serve as a key advisor to the CFO, offering insight and recommendations on financial trends, risks, and opportunities.
- Contribute to improving processes, documentation, and reporting efficiency.

What We're Looking For

- 7–10 years of accounting/finance experience with a focus on media, broadcasting, advertising sales, or distribution (linear & digital).
- Strong familiarity with MVPDs (Rogers, Telus, Shaw, Videotron) and/or US cross-border operations is an asset.
- CPA designation strongly preferred.
- Deep understanding of GAAP, corporate tax, and compliance.
- Hands-on experience with Microsoft Office Suite; Great Plains or similar ERP experience is an asset.
- Excellent analytical, organizational, and problem-solving skills.
- Strong communicator—able to clearly present ideas, challenge assumptions, and influence decisions with professionalism.
- A collaborative team player who values transparency, accountability, and results.
- Prior exposure to CRTC or Canada Media Fund reporting is a plus.

How to Apply

If you're a finance professional with experience in the media space and want to contribute to a company navigating one of the most transformative times in television and entertainment, we'd love to hear from you. Send your resume to: hr@anthemse.com
